

Mommy's Little Girl

IT'S rare to see Jennifer Garner without her mini-me, dimpled cutie Violet. Even though the Affleck family has a nanny, Jen makes it a point to pick up her 4-year-old daughter from pre-school nearly every day — and then rewards her with a stop for a sweet treat. “Jennifer can’t walk by Yummy Cupcakes in Santa Monica without buying Violet one,” says a source. “And at $3.25 each, they’re the Rolls-Royce of cupcakes!”

Of course, there’s plenty of pampering on the home front too. “Jen and Ben are refurbishing the backyard of their Brentwood house, giving it an Alice in Wonderland feel with a labyrinth of hedges, animal topiary, fountains and a really cool playground — all for around $75,000!”

The Princess' Castle

Inside the family's $16 million Brentwood mansion, Violet also has a pink-and-purple playroom full of toys, including a $5,000 pinball machine!

Tickled Pink

Violet could not contain her smile when Mommy took her and baby sister Seraphina on a shopping spree at JennyBec's toy store on March 10.

Halle's Health Nut

HALLE BERRY waited so long to become a mom, now that she has her stunning daughter Nahla, she's giving her the world! The 2-year-old even has her own private chef who whips up only organic health food, says an insider. “Nahla eats better than most queens! I don't think she's ever had fast food or even a sip of soda.”

Environmentally friendly Halle also went organic when it came to Nahla's bedroom. According to an insider, she dropped thousands on walnut furniture from hip L.A. baby boutique NoMi. “Halle made sure to get some of the coolest designer stuff out there. She said it had to be only the best!”

Beach Babes

Halle and her longtime beau, Gabriel Aubry, have taken Nahla on some luxe vacations, including one to Miami Beach last summer.
